FORWARD

Near the end of the 21st Century, with the discovery of hyper photo spatial-displacement drive, humankind explodes onto the stars.

After only a century of expansion, violent disputes over a string of planets and asteroids in the Hyades cluster, called the Steel Chain, necessitate the formation of a powerful voting block in the United Nations General Assembly, known as the Steel Chain Cooperative (SCC). From this new order the Military Alliance Deputation (MAD) was established to enforce their resolutions.

After less than thirty years of operations the MAD was disbanded. Twelve divisions of volunteers were stationed in the Pleiades Cluster, in a newly developing area called the Steel Annex (SA), to police the rapidly expanding frontier. With the traditional lines of communication and supply stretched beyond the breaking point, the SA was soon commissioned to operate with autonomy.

Out of sight—they were quickly forgotten.

Seventy years later, unresolved disputes between the members of the SCC and the frontier states escalate. The hostilities compel the forces of the SA to intervene on behalf of the frontier. In response, the Cooperative reactivates the MAD outside the control of the UN.

What followed was a war that few people knew about and fewer cared to understand.

After 14 years it ends in stalemate.

None of the concessions made to the forces of the Annex were to be honored.

Don't fuck around boy—and if you want to hang around people who do, don't be surprised when the bill comes due

Acknowledgements...

The author would like to thank the following people for their love, friendship, and contributions to this work:

Nedka Petrovova for your undying love, support, editing, and heroic efforts to keep me on track. Mua! =)

Bette Griffen for all your incredible insights, research, and editorial prowess. You got me over the top!

/b/anonymous for all the [REDACTED]

Carole Oligario (USC) for lighting my way.

Larry Palmer for catching some glaring errors.

Misty Vincent for being the sounding board I needed.

Shelley Gillette-Carney for your “tense” observations.

Mark Baum for your input and feedback—oh so long ago.

J.Jae and Chuck Russell for your observations and support.

Jacob Baum for your innovation and crazy ideas—they work!

Arleta Okerson for your intelligence and momentous sense of humor. Without your 27 years of indirect contribution this would have been a very boring story indeed.

Jacob Graves, a smart underachiever, quite by accident finds his niche with the Steel Annex—a military organization in the Pleiades Cluster—and no matter how much he looks at this job as just a job, through the years he has earned a reputation that has instilled unimaginable fear in the heart of their adversaries. Now, being a straight male (an oddity these days) has its share of drawbacks, but Jacob's life is more complicated than most. Torn between his ex-wife, Maria, and his on and off again lover, Nicole (front cover), as well as all his children, Jacob soon finds out that even he can be redeemed from the indiscretions and collateral damage of his past.

In worlds without hunger, disease and poverty—where wealth is abundant and want is for naught—it is in the exclusive A-List of politics, industry and society where ambition, avarice and debauchery are redefined. In this instance children cloned for the sex and military trade have been discovered, and it is up to Field Marshal Graves and his people to rescue them...only to learn that it is a young girl, playing a very dangerous game of manipulation, who is pulling the strings and guiding mankind to the abyss of interstellar war.
